

THE FLY EXPRESS

A pest control newsletter from FlyCo the Green Pesty.

WELCOME!

Introducing the FLY EXPRESS, our very own Newsletter which will hit your inbox the start of each season (we are a little late with this one - sorry).

Seeing this is the first one we have done we thought we would give you an overview of the season to date. In a nutshell, its been a strong year for fly and spider populations. The extended drought conditions have seen the fly populations increase at a rapid rate. Flies breed a lot faster in weather conditions over 36 degrees and our rural families have been inundated with these sticky critters with some needing treatment more regular than past years. Food venues have also seen an inundation of flies finding their ways into their premises, with many opting to use commercial traps as well.

The extreme heat has also 'flushed' out a lot of spiders from trees and gardens. With many needing shelter from the heat and finding themselves under your verandah's and chairs trying to keep cool.

We should see a reduction of flies and spiders over the next few weeks to months as the weather cools off in the autumn and winter - this however will bring about an increase in rodent activity. Yes, we get rid of one, only for another to start.

As the cooler months prevail, there will be a decrease in food sources available for rodents. This will force them to travel for food, with many finding their way to your home, which will have an abundance of different food sources, not to mention a nice and warm environment for them to stay in.

Many proactive people have already been calling up to have their house booked in for baiting before the cooler months come.

Our rodenticide is very low in toxicity , eliminating the risk to your pets and wildlife

If you would like to have your house pre-baited before the rodent onslaught, please call the office and we can arrange for this to happen.

I would also like to extend a thank-you to all our loyal and wonderful customers for your continued support. We love providing you with a safe, enviro friendly pest control solution that is safe for you and your family.

Fully enclosed rodent bait box, key locked and tamper resistant

Ants are still marching.....

This extended warm weather has resulted in a influx of ants. If you are having ant trouble, take advantage of our Monthly special and book in your house for a FlyCo treatment and we will treat your ants for free!

SOCIAL CORNER

We have a new segment called "So Josh" - if you have a burning question, you would like answered, we will send Josh off to answer it. Answers uploaded Monday each week to facebook.

